PRESENTATION OF EMÍLIA HIGHLIGHTS

At the turn of the 21st century, on the initiative of a group of specialists in literature, arts and education, the periodical Revista Emília was born. The desire was to broaden theoretical and analytical horizons in the field of books and culture for children and youth in Brazil. Organized on a voluntary basis, the group has consistently presented proposals and initiatives to foster theoretical discussion, promote the formation of readers, and enhance the value of books and reading.

Since its inception, the actions developed by Emília have consisted of sharing experiences, disseminating ideas, promoting literary and aesthetic reflections in meetings, seminars, study groups, reading clubs, presentational and distance courses, as well as the publication of articles, interviews, essays and reviews in the electronic Revista, in the biannual Cadernos [Journals] and in theoretical and literary books edited by Selo Emília.

The Emília Highlights are a fundamental part of this work, with the annual analysis of works of fiction and non-fiction for children and youth published in the Brazilian market from 2013 to 2022. Conducted by members of the Emília staff and a jury of outside experts, the selections take place year by year based on literary, aesthetic, and political merit.

The growth of the market targeting children and young people makes editorial production increasingly subject to the logic that governs other market niches, betting on easy and ephemeral reading to the detriment of provocative and surprising books. Therefore, the main objective of the Emília Highlights guides is to discuss and refine the criteria for quality through the analysis of national and international literary works that deserve to be in good libraries for children and young people throughout Brazil.

Esperando a chuva

As part of the premises of this work of assessment, Emília also conducts Olhar Leitor (Readers' View), which consists of reading sessions with groups of children and young people using books pre-selected by the team. The perspective of the final readers regarding the books under evaluation helps to consolidate and renew the criteria for the Highlights, reaffirming the commitment to the dialogism of the process. The spaces for reader formation that participate in Readers' View receive donations of books sent by publishers to Instituto Emília.

With more than 10 years of experience, Instituto Emília brings together in this guide the complete list of books considered Highlights, published in Brazil from 2013 to 2022.

WORK METHODOLOGY

Since 2012, the Revista Emília Highlights group has been meeting virtually and in person to analyze the releases sent by Brazilian publishers. During these meetings, the books are read, discussed and analyzed according to the criteria defined by the team, which, in turn — and fundamentally — refines these criteria based on the material received, updating analysis benchmarks, identifying trends and formulating general observations about the sample of books and publishers analyzed.

In this way, the team calls into question the very definition of the criteria, with open and dialogue-rich discussions among specialists who consider the viewpoint of the final readers. Guided by literary and aesthetic concerns, the Highlights team does not establish criteria a priori for evaluating the books received, which are considered without age or gender segmentation, analyzed as objects in themselves, and subjected to identical criteria and screenings. However, the difficulty in formulating quality criteria outweighs the ease in identifying works that lack them. The construction of these references involves, therefore, a long road of learning and interchange.

Over these 10 years of work, the Highlights team has refined its approach to assessing books for children and youth, shedding light on the various genres and languages that contribute to the existence of critical and surprising catalogs for this public. In this regard, we consider in our evaluations the specificities not only of picture books, but also short stories, poetry, and books for scientific dissemination. In all cases, the books selected from 2013 through 2022 combine excellence of verbal text, images and graphic design, while recognizing the intelligence of the young readers and the competence of the mediators.

Considering furthermore the profound inequality that shapes Brazilian society, the Highlights also discuss the diversity of childhoods and the need to consider audiences whose references, realities and needs are not restricted to the traditionally established canon. This diversity in production and reception demands a change of perspective and a rethinking of the traditional criteria of analysis. In the conception of the Highlights, however, this transformation of perspective should go beyond the simple incorporation of aspects related to diversity, such as characters, and historical and cultural references — which are without a doubt essential, but do not necessarily promote plural aesthetics, worldviews and cosmogonies.

In this sense, Brazilian reality also imposes a political perspective on literary criticism. The theoretical reference for Highlights is the concept of the “social function of the work of art” developed by Hungarian philosopher Georg Lukács in his book The Theory of the Novel. The urgency to consider independent editions and authors, marginal publications, themes and cosmologies outside the canon that open up to vistas questioning the established quality criteria imposes ongoing revisions and reflections.

CATEGORIES AND CRITERIA

From the beginning, the parameter that has guided the selection presented here, as well as the definition of the analysis criteria, is the search for excellence based on identifying the literary, aesthetic, and political merit of the works. Based on these analyses, the team established the following categories:

- BREATHKING: titles that stand out above the average;
- INDISPENSABLE: titles that should not be absent in any library;
- RECOMMENDED: titles that should be considered for their importance or originality in the Brazilian scenario;
- NON-FICTION: titles that stand out for their language, clarity, thematic importance, and originality of concept.

Throughout these years, the books have been analyzed and evaluated with the following criteria in mind:

- respect for the intelligence and sensibility of the readers, leaving aside any concession to mediators, whether schools, libraries or families;
- consistency and boldness of the literary, graphic, and editorial projects, presenting advances in relation to the existing production;

- promotion of an aesthetic experience in readers;
- consideration of a timeless reader and dialogue with beginning readers;
- interweaving of text, image and object in the production of meaning;
- diversity of interpretations expressed in a plurissignificant language;
- consistency of narrative, of illustrations, or originality.

Criteria for exclusion

- books that are discriminatory or biased;
- books of a functional nature;
- books that simply reflect market demands.

Thus, it is with enthusiasm for this work of evaluation and formation, with its strong potential for guiding the choices of families, educators and librarians in building collections for children and young people, that we present the complete list of works selected by the Emília Highlights team and the external juries between 2013 and 2022.
